Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Armstrong, US Patent 3,552,295. A control knob assembly for use on a vane 22 of an air vent that directs airflow into a vehicle's passenger compartment wherein said vane includes a front being closest to the passenger compartment and a rear edge being furthest away from the passenger compartment, said rear edge having a notched portion formed therein, said control knob assembly comprising a knob portion 52 having an inner surface, said knob portion allows a user to manipulate the vane to a desired position; a side having an open portion dimensioned to receive the vane in snap fit engagement into said inner surface of the knob portion; and a compressively resilient pad 66 dimensioned to be received into said notched portion (see figure 2) formed at the rear edge of the vane and to extend outwardly beyond the rear edge to contact a first portion of said inner surface, said compressively resilient pad being operative to consistently urge the front edge of the vane into contact with a second portion of the inner surface of the knob portion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Armstrong. Armstrong discloses the claimed invention except for explicitly teaching the claimed materials for the resilient pad. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have selected such materials, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. See also Ballas Liquidating Co. v. Allied industries of Kansas, Inc. (DC Kans) 205 USPQ 331. Such modifications are not critical to the design and would produce no unexpected results.
